

San Diego's Chatter™ Offers Services In Poland

December 2003

Chatter™, San Diego's very own high tech mobile communication solution, released today that negotiations have begun to deploy mobile messaging services from San Diego all the way to Poland. Mobile services have come a long way. A local company can have value to a client base a continent away. More importantly, a large portion of these services are FREE!

Text messaging is nothing new to the UK market. The Polish community alone sent approximately 3 million SMS in 2003! The San Diego community sent only about a half million text messages in 2003.

"Our partners in Poland require dynamic services and capabilities that are typically cost prohibitive in their region through other carriers," said David Raine, President of Chatter™. Chatter™ proposed services to Poland that include business SMS broadcasting for travel, entertainment, and communications. With GSM phone capabilities, a single provider can manage services worldwide at a local price!

Chatter™ provides a gateway solution that allows dynamic use of top end SMS services without direct relationships with the carriers. Chatter™ is both cross carrier and internationally enabled. Poland customers access services over the web and within a few short mouse clicks send SMS content worldwide to their opt-in audience. Chatter™ is also able to simulate premium services that allow 2 way communications between customers and their audience.
